

ROY Communities that Care Coalition Newsletter!

Sooky season is upon us! But don't let those ghouls & goblins scare you away from quality time with your kids. October is full of seasonal parties & activities which can mean peer pressure & scary decisions our youth are faced with. The best trick we can give you is talking early & often with your children about how & why to say no.

Guiding Good Choices is a prime workshop for parents & youth on learning refusal skills, without losing friends. Outlining clear boundaries equips our kids with skills to make healthier decisions throughout their lives. The Roy CTC offers this workshop twice a year, with options for a Spanish class. Reach out today & ask us about our next sessions!

Member Recognition

Roy CTC proudly has 13 dedicated youth members representing Roy Cone Schools. The Youth Council provides meaningful opportunities for students to participate in community activities & raise awareness about the dangers of substance misuse. Members educate their peers using evidence-based prevention strategies & serve as positive role models. This year, they'll also take part in leadership & training events, including opportunities to meet with local legislators & advocate for positive change in their community. Our youth are so ambitious & the energy & vitality they bring to our coalition is unmatched! We appreciate our CTC Youth!

Nu Hope Walk

Roy CTC had the immense pleasure of participating in the 18th annual NuHope Suicide Prevention Awareness Walk & community event at the end of September. This event aims to increase suicide awareness & prevention in Northern Utah. Along with Weber & Western Weber CTCs, our volunteers shared suicide prevention resources & information, including pamphlets on vaping (provided by See Through The Vape). Thank you to our dedicated volunteers who share, teach, & inspire our community members!

There is always hope. Help is available at the 988 Suicide & Crisis Lifeline, or at SafeUT, a 24 hour crisis support line.
